Twenty provocative essays detail the lives of women in the American religious tradition.

Women's Place in New Worlds...

Lively true episodes trace the spiritual development and empowerment of women which has led them to their rightful place beside men as ministers and preachers. Their contributions as pastors' wives on the frontier and as deaconesses in the inner cities are disclosed, along with the effect this has had on their lives and on the work of The United Methodist Church. Paper, $12.95

Volume one of two-volume set—originating in the "Women in New Worlds" Conference in Cincinnati, Ohio, 1980, sponsored by the Women's History Project of the General Commission on Archives and History of The United Methodist Church.
