CONTRIBUTORS

JAMES S. THOMAS, Resident Bishop of the Ohio East Area, The United Methodist Church, holds degrees from Claflin College (A.B.), Gammon Theological Seminary (B.D.), Drew University (M.A.), and Cornell University (Ph.D.). He was pastor, college chaplain, professor, and denominational executive before being elected bishop in 1964.

CHARLES WALLACE, JR. is Adjunct Lecturer in Church History at Wesley Theological Seminary and Campus Minister and Adjunct Assistant Professor of Religious Studies at Western Maryland College. He is a graduate of Bowdoin College (B.A.), Yale Divinity School (B.D.), and Duke University (Ph.D.). His interest in the English roots of Methodism and in the study of women and religion has led him to undertake a critical edition of Susanna Wesley’s “letters and papers.”

FREDERICK A. NORWOOD, Professor Emeritus at Garrett-Evangelical Theological Seminary, has been a supporter of and contributor to this journal since its inception. Dr. Norwood has published numerous articles and books in the field of Methodist history.

STEPHEN C. COMPTON is a member of the North Carolina Conference, The United Methodist Church and presently serves as pastor of Salem Church, Hurdle Mills, in that conference. He is a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill (A.B.) and Duke Divinity School (M.Div.).
