CONTENTS

Contributors .................................................................................................................. 130

Wesley's Sermons as Spiritual Formation Documents
by Steve Harper ............................................................................................................ 131

Charles Wesley as a Biblical Interpreter
by S T Kimbrough, Jr. .................................................................................................. 139

Investigating Wesley Family Traditions
by Frank Baker ........................................................................................................... 154

Charles Wesley's Greatest Poem
by Glenn Clark ........................................................................................................... 163

From Riots to Revivalism: The Gordon Riots of 1780, Methodist Hymnody, and the Halevey Thesis Revisited
by Ralph E. Reed, Jr. .................................................................................................. 172

DISCOVERY edited by Frederick E. Maser ............................................................... 188

Book Reviews ................................................................................................................ 191

Methodist History is included in Religion Index One: Periodicals,
Religious and Theological Abstracts,
Historical Abstracts and America: History and Life

Manuscripts submitted for publication and all other correspondence should be addressed to Editor, METHODIST HISTORY, P. O. Box 127, Madison, NJ 07940.
CONTRIBUTORS

STEVE HARPER is Associate Professor of Spiritual Formation and Wesley Studies at Asbury Theological Seminary in Wilmore, KY. He is a graduate of McMurry College (B.A.), Asbury Theological Seminary (M.Div.), and Duke University (Ph.D.). He is a clergy member of the Northwest Texas Annual Conference. He is the author of a number of articles and books including John Wesley’s Message for Today.

S T KIMBROUGH, JR. is a member of the Center for Theological Inquiry in Princeton, NJ, where he is editing the unpublished hymns and poems of Charles Wesley. He is a graduate of Birmingham Southern College, Duke Divinity School, and Princeton Theological Seminary (Ph.D.). He is a distinguished musician, writer, choral conductor, and concert/operatic baritone. He is the author of several articles and three books.

FRANK BAKER is Professor Emeritus of English Church History at Duke University Divinity School. He is also Textual Editor of the celebrated Bicentennial Edition of Wesley’s Works. Dr. Baker is one of the leading scholars of Wesleyan and Methodist studies in this century and has published widely in the United States and Great Britain on these topics.

GLENN CLARK is Professor of Mathematics Emeritus at Mount Union College in Alliance, OH. He is a graduate of Union College, Barbourville, KY (A.B.), and the University of Kentucky (M.A., Ph.D.). Since his retirement, Dr. Clark’s major areas of interest in the field of religion have been hymnology and Methodist history.

RALPH E. REED, JR. is a graduate student at Emory University. He is a graduate of the University of Georgia (B.A.) and is currently a candidate for the Ph.D. degree in American history at Emory. His manuscript on the Gordon riots published in this issue received the Francis Benjamin Prize for the most outstanding paper by a graduate student in the Emory History Department in 1986.