SARAH GWYNNE WESLEY
EDITORIAL BOARD

Susan M. Eltscher, Class of 1996
Janet D. Engle, Class of 1996
Pamela Baker Lineberger, Class of 1994
Michael G. Nickerson, Class of 1994
Richard O’Neil, Class of 1996
Kenneth E. Rowe, Class of 1994

Cover: Sarah Gwynne Wesley (1726–1822), devoted wife of Charles Wesley.
CONTENTS

Contributors ......................................................... 2

George Whitefield, African-Americans, and Slavery
   by William A. Sloat, II ........................................... 3

A Great Central Mission: The Legacy of The United Methodist Church in Zimbabwe
   by Nathan Goto .................................................. 14

"Dear Sister:" John Wesley and the Women of Early Methodism
   by John C. English .............................................. 26

Regular Preaching in the Methodist Episcopal Church, South:
North Carolina, 1870-1900
   by Richard A. Jenkins ........................................ 34

Wesley's Thoughts Upon Slavery: A Declaration of Human Rights
   by Leon O. Hynson .............................................. 46

DISCOVERY edited by Frederick E. Maser ....................... 58

Book Reviews ........................................................ 61

Copyright: 1994, General Commission on Archives and History,
The United Methodist Church
Methodist History is included in Religion Index One: Periodicals,
Religious and Theological Abstracts,
Historical Abstracts and America: History and Life
CONTRIBUTORS

WILLIAM A. SLOAT, II is an ordained minister in the Churches of God, General Conference, and is a graduate student at Drew University. He is currently teaching at Winebrenner Theological Seminary and the University of Findlay in Findlay, OH.

NATHAN F. GOTO is Executive Director of Africa Church Growth and Development for The United Methodist Church. He is a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan University (B.A.), the University of Nebraska (M.A.), and the Methodist Theological School in Ohio (M.Div.). This article is a revision of his 1992 John H. Ness prize manuscript.

JOHN C. ENGLISH is Professor of History, Baker University, Baldwin, KS. He is a graduate of Washington University (B.A.), Yale University (M.Div.), and Vanderbilt University (Ph.D). He has served on the Executive Committee of the United Methodist Historical Society and delivered the Annual Lecture of the Wesley Historical Society in Great Britain in 1991.

RICHARD A. JENKINS is a doctoral candidate at Duke University specializing in American religious history. He is a graduate of Union University (B.A.) and Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary (M.Div.). His article is based upon dissertation research which focuses on the public rhetoric of religious communities in late 19th century North Carolina.

LEON O. HYNSON is Wesley Scholar in Residence at the Evangelical School of Theology, Myerstown, PA. He has written articles for a number of journals including Methodist History. He is also the author of To Reform the Nation: Theological Foundations of Wesley's Ethics (Zondervan, 1984). His manuscript was previously presented to a section of the American Academy of Religion.