Charles Wesley (1707-1788) is widely recognized as one of the greatest writers of the English hymn. His importance, however, extends well beyond his undoubted poetic abilities, for he is a figure of central importance in the context of the birth and early growth of Methodism. Contemporary accounts suggest that Charles was a powerful and effective preacher whose skill did much to establish and further the early Methodist cause. This volume brings this other side of Charles Wesley into focus through the publication, for the first time, of all his known sermon texts. It presents a summary of Charles's life and preaching career and seeks to show how the sermons, no less than the hymns, are significant vehicles for the transmission of Charles's message. This book makes a plea for a reassessment of the place of Charles Wesley in English Church history and argues that he deserves to be recognized as more than just "The Sweet Singer of Methodism."

Kenneth G.C. Newport is a graduate of the University of Oxford and an Anglican priest. He is Professor in Christian Thought and Director of the Charles Wesley Research Centre at Liverpool Hope University College. Further information regarding the Centre may be found at http://www.hope.ac.uk/theopg/wesley.htm and enquiries from prospective research students are welcome.
