Mary Vazeille Wesley (1710-1781), the widow who married John Wesley in 1751. The marriage was not a happy one for either party.

NOTE: Please refer to the April 2003 issue cover which is designated as the copy of a portrait of John Wesley by George Romney. Although this print has been published in other places as a Romney of Wesley, we have discovered that the portrait is probably not John Wesley and probably not by George Romney. We deeply regret using it as such. It is an historical sin to perpetuate myths as fact. There will be an extensive article on this question in a forthcoming issue by an expert in the field of Wesley portraiture.
CONTENTS

Contributors ......................................................... 142

Methodism Condemned: John Williamson Nevin's Accusations
by Charles Yrigoyen, Jr. .............................................. 143

John Calvin, the Wesleys, and John Williamson Nevin on the Lord's Supper
by Jennifer Lynn Woodruff ........................................ 159

Henry Foxall and the Arigna Iron Works by Jane Donovan ..................................................... 179

John Wesley's Letters of Orders, As Deacon (1725) and Priest (1728) Translated
by David H. Tripp ................................................... 192

Revisiting the Methodist Legacy in American Pentecostalism: Nuances in the Early Pentecostal Understanding of "Sanctification" (1896-1950)
by David Michel .................................................... 196

DISCOVERY edited by Robert Drew Simpson .................... 206

Book Reviews ......................................................... 209

Minutes, 2002 Annual Meeting, Historical Society of The United Methodist Church .................................................. 214

Statement of Ownership, Management & Circulation ........... 217

Copyright: 2003, General Commission on Archives and History;
The United Methodist Church

Methodist History is included in Religion Index One: Periodicals,
Religious and Theological Abstracts,
Historical Abstracts and America: History and Life
ATLA Religion Database

Manuscripts submitted for publication and all other correspondence should be addressed to Editor, METHODIST HISTORY, P.O. Box 127, Madison, NJ 07940. Prospective authors are advised to write for guidelines for publication.
CONTRIBUTORS

CHARLES YRIGOYEN, JR. is General Secretary of the General Commission on Archives and History of The United Methodist Church. He is also Editor of Methodist History. A version of this article appeared in Reformed Confessionalism in Nineteenth-Century America: Essays on the Thought of John Williamson Nevin, edited by Sam Hamstra, Jr. and Arie J. Griffioen (Scarecrow, 1995)

JENNIFER LYNN WOODRUFF is Methodist Librarian at Drew University, Madison, New Jersey. She is a graduate of Augustana College (B. A.), Asbury Theological Seminary (M. Div., M. A.), and the University of Illinois (M. S. in L. I. S.). She is completing her Ph. D. at Duke University, Durham, North Carolina.

JANE DONOVAN is a graduate of West Virginia University (A. B.) and a candidate for the M. T. S. degree at Wesley Theological Seminary, Washington, D. C. Her latest book, Historical Dictionary of Washington DC, will appear soon. A past President of the William Watters Foundation, she has also served on the Baltimore-Washington Annual Conference Commission on Archives and History.

DAVID H. TRIPP is pastor of the United Methodist Church, Rolling Prairie, Indiana. He is a clergy member of the North Indiana Annual Conference and serves on the faculty of Associated Mennonite Biblical Seminary, Elkhart, Indiana. Tripp has also been a circuit minister in the British Methodist Church and a member of the faculty of Lincoln Theological College in the U. K.

DAVID MICHEL is a doctoral student at Chicago Theological Seminary. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania (B. A.), Eastern Baptist Theological Seminary (M. Div., M. T. S.), and the Boston University School of Theology (S. T. M.). Ordained in The Church of God, Cleveland, Tennessee, he has published Telling the Story: Black Pentecostals in The Church of God (Pathway Press, 2000)

NOTE: Please refer to the April 2003 issue cover which is designated as the copy of a portrait of John Wesley by George Romney. Although this print has been published in other places as a Romney of Wesley, we have discovered that the portrait is probably not John Wesley and probably not by George Romney. We deeply regret using it as such. It is an historical sin to perpetuate myths as fact. There will be an extensive article on this question in a forthcoming issue by an expert in the field of Wesley portraiture.

142