Issac Long Barn, near Lancaster, PA, site of important meeting of Philip William Otterbein and Martin Boehm circa 1767. The two were co-founders of the United Brethren in Christ. The image is taken from an 1897 painting by H. B. Greenwald.
METHODIST HISTORY

Charles Yrigoyen, Jr., Editor

VOLUME XLIV OCTOBER 2005 NUMBER 1

CONTENTS

Contributors ................................................................. 2

The Monastery in the Methodist Eye: Rev. Merton S. Rice of Detroit and St. George of Choziba by Matthew T. Herbst .................................................. 3

So Much Over So Little? The Libel Suit of James J. Stewart
by Albert William Martin, Jr. ........................................... 18

The Censure of a Bishop: Church and State in the McCarthy Era
by Angela Lahr ............................................................. 29

Disappearing Churches: Rural Methodism in the Western North Carolina Highlands, 1918-1968
by Nancy Keever Anderson .............................................. 43

DISCOVERY edited by John Lenton .................................... 56

Book Reviews .................................................................. 60

Copyright: 2005, General Commission on Archives and History,
The United Methodist Church

Methodist History is included in Religion Index One: Periodicals,
Religious and Theological Abstracts,
Historical Abstracts and America: History and Life
ATLA Religion Database

Manuscripts submitted for publication and all other correspondence should be addressed to Editor, METHODIST HISTORY, P.O. Box 127, Madison, NJ 07940. Prospective authors are advised to write for guidelines for publication.
CONTRIBUTORS

MATTHEW T. HERBST is Visiting Assistant Professor of History at the University of Michigan and Historian/Archivist for the Detroit Annual Conference of The United Methodist Church.

ALBERT WILLIAM MARTIN, Jr. is Schooler Professor of Religion Emeritus at Oklahoma City University. His other articles on James J. Stewart appeared in Volume XXXIX of Methodist History.

ANGELA M. LAHR is a doctoral student at Northern Illinois University where she also serves as a teaching assistant. Her dissertation topic is, “Apocalyptic Fears and Millennial Visions: Evangelical and Secular Identity in the Early Cold War.”

NANCY KEEVER ANDERSEN is the Archivist for the Western North Carolina Annual Conference of The United Methodist Church. Among her publications is a history of Memphis Conference Methodism.

JOHN H. LENTON is Librarian for the Wesley Historical Society, Oxford Brookes University, Oxford, England. He has done extensive research and publication on Wesley’s early preachers.