CONTRIBUTORS

BISHOP CARLOS T. GATTINONI, a native of Argentina, was educated at Facultad Evangelica de Teologia in Buenos Aires and Hartford Seminary Foundation in Connecticut. He was elected to the episcopacy at the Constituting Conference which created the Argentine Evangelical Methodist Church in 1969. The paper published here was presented by Bishop Gattinoni at the quinquennial meeting of the International Methodist Historical Society, Denver, Colorado, August 17-18, 1971.

E. BROOKS HOLIFIELD, Assistant Professor of American Church History at Candler School of Theology, received the B.D. degree from Yale Divinity School in 1966 and a Ph.D. from Yale Graduate School in 1970. He is an ordained deacon in the United Methodist Church.

FREDERICK A. NORWOOD, Professor of the History of Christianity at Garrett Theological Seminary, is a regular contributor to Methodist History.

COVER

Rehoboth Church, near Union, West Virginia, was Methodism's first church west of the Alleghenies. It was built in 1785 on land given by Edward Keenan, a former Roman Catholic, and was dedicated in 1786 by Bishop Asbury.
